

p 27 He made no effort to get an alibi for himself. When did he first line up his own? Might not his memory at the time he did line it up be at fault in the matter of exact dates?

p 38 About fishing the following morning for mullet - getting soaked. Simpson will raise the inference that he was removing evidences of bloodstains &c.

p 42 Was the Lakewood Road, State Highway, finished at that time? My recollection is it was not.

If Mrs. Van Note, the laundress in Osbornville had never seen him drive anything but a Ford, it would be pretty strong corroboration; he had been going there weekly for a long time.

p 43 See if the four pound fish is in the diary.

p 49 Note the contradictory statements about his knowing Mrs. Mills. See also page 52. Why would it necessarily have been in connection with church work? (Unless he had known of her church connection)
